October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month (NBCAM)

Breast Cancer is the most common cancer in women in the United States, aside from skin cancer. According to the American Cancer Society (ACS), an estimated 192,370 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to be diagnosed among women in the United States this year. An estimated 40,170 women are expected to die from the disease in this year alone.

Today, there are about 2.5 million breast cancer survivors living in the United States. Breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in women (after Lung cancer.) Although African -American women have a slightly lower incidence of breast cancer after the age of 40 than Caucasian women, they have slightly higher incidence rate of breast cancer before the age of 40. However, African - American women are more likely to die from breast cancer at every age. Breast Cancer is much less common in males; by comparison, the disease is about 100 times more common among women. According to the American Cancer Society, an estimated 1,910 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to be diagnosed among men in the United States.

The Nation Breast Cancer Awareness Month Program is dedicated to increasing the public service organization, professional associations, and government agencies comprise the Board of Sponsors, who work together to ensure that the NBCAM message is heard by thousands of women and their families.
